

★ ABOUT THE CAMP ★

The Augusta Players is a nonprofit community theatre company. We have been in business since 1945 and we know how to teach your kids how to have fun onstage! Each year our summer camps provide musical theatre training in a fun environment for children 6-18. During these camps, emphasis is placed on learning the craft of musical theatre to include acting, singing, dancing and technical theatre.

Each group has classes in music, dance and most important--ACTING! Our students will prepare age-level appropriate scenes and readings to be presented to parents in a theatrical showcase at the end of each session.

ABOUT THE DIRECTOR

Laura Butler, our Jr Players director, leads the camp again this year. An alum of Davidson Fine Arts School, Ms. Butler holds a Bachelor of Science degree from The University of Georgia and she was privileged to attend AMDA in New York. Recent theatregoers know her as Morales in A Chorus Line, Anybodys in West Side Story, Wednesday Addams in The Addams Family, and Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz.

ABOUT THE FACULTY

The Augusta Player summer camps always employ the finest of teachers who are culled from the Augusta theatrical community and beyond.

MASTER CLASS (very limited class size)

The Master Class level is for those students who have had prior community theatre or high school theatre experience. Those who have had parts in our own Jr. Players or Mainstage productions will have first choice for slots in this category. For anyone else to be considered for the Master Class, a theatrical bio must be included with the registration form. This year our Master Class will include scene study and monologue intensives. All Master Class participants must bring a prepared monologue and a 32 bar audition from a musical theater show.

Children learn as they play. Most importantly, in play, children learn how to learn. ---O. Fred Donaldson
